GROWING PAINS

"Students, students everywhere," may well have been a vistor's first thought upon entering Saegertown High School during the first six weeks of the 1963-64 school year. Yes, classes were everywhere: in the lobby, gymnasium, cafeteria, and on the stage, and something had to be done about it.

On September 3, four new prefabricated class rooms were started. They were completed on October 1, and now accommodate mainly senior high school students.

Mrs. Kubachko, Melanie, Vera, and Mr. Kubachko.

A Little Touch of Germany

VERA LANGE

"Hi" was just about the first really American word I learned, and so far, I like it the best. It is exactly the way you want to greet a person when you pass by. I will pass Saegertown and all its nice people over the period of one year, which is not time enough to stop everywhere and make very deep friendships, but I will say "Hi" to everyone, especially my friends at Saegertown High School.

There seems to be no way to thank all of you for everything you have done for me. To me it seems that I am receiving continually from you, without being able to pay back enough. Maybe you will be repaid a little if I tell you that I have been very happy here, and that nothing will be more valuable in my life than this year of experiences in America. I will carry home with me a huge suitcase full of memories for my whole future life. Many things I have learned here will be essential to me until I become a gray-haired woman. Even my grand-children will be eager to listen to my memories from America.

I want to dedicate a whole passage to my family, Mr. and Mrs. John Kubachko, here in Saegertown, who have accepted me as their daughter in a most affectionate way. The fact that I have never been homesick since I arrived here last August is due to the constant loving care that my American parents have extended to me. I will always have a second home with love and understanding.

Vera and her sister, Gabrielle (13).

Back in Germany, I live with my parents and two sisters in an apartment at the edge of Hanover, a city of nearly 600,000 inhabitants. There is quite a difference between Hannover and Saegertown, but I never particularly like big cities and the A.F.S fulfilled my wish to live in a small town or in the country.

Everything seems much larger in America. When our boat entered New York Harbor, I felt that word "Wolkenkratzer" (skyscraper) should be erased from Hannover's vocabulary. When you drive through the country in Germany, you find people and houses thickly distributed all over. Germany is overpopulated by the constant influx of refugees from the Communistic Bloc. The influx ceased two years ago when the Berlin wall was erected, but now the Federal Republic has to cope with the problems of housing and adjusting those people to our economic system.

The lack of space allows me to say only a few things. In conclusion I wish to emphasize my gratefulness to all my friends in Saegertown, known well or little. I will never forget your generosity and hospitality.

Auf Wiedersehen,
Vera

Mr. Lange, Ilka (16), Mrs. Lange, and Vera.

Vera and school friend.

FOR 1963

Surrounded by soft music, swaying palms, and grass huts, the dancers glided over the dance floor. In this atmosphere of the Pacific Islands, Miss Milta Rabell reigned as queen over all the magnificently dressed dancers. The outstanding contrast of beautiful gowns, sparkling jewels, and native girls made it a striking "Polynesian Holiday" for all. Amidst the soft pastels of lavender, pink, and blue everyone was gay. Yes, the calm eve of May 4, was a night to remember for all at the Junior-Senior Prom of 1963.

The Crawford County Class B Championship was once again credited to our Panther Baseball team for the seventh consecutive year.

The credit should go to our coach, Mr. Merle Darcangelo for excellent leadership. Leadership and a combination of hard work and good sportsmanship from the team brought home our seventh trophy.

A young team, injuries to key players, bad breaks at crucial moments, all these played havoc with the Panther football fortune this year. Although the season wasn't considered outstanding, from a "win-loss" viewpoint, we can truly be proud of the sportsman-like attitude with which our team participated. With good fortune on our side, Saegertown may very well have had a victorious season.

We would, however, like to site especially our senior players, Jules Adam, Ronald Bain, Larry Bruce, Jim Craig, Spencer Ferry, Ken Gerritsen, Marshall Grinnell, Mark Haemer, and Chris Michael for their efforts to make this season a favorable one at Saegertown.

HOMECOMING

1963

A sparkling cold autumn day at the beginning of October brought to Saegertown High School the official homecoming celebrations.

Previously on September 29, five very happy candidates, competing for the title of "Queen," were announced to the student body. The candidates were: Marcia Flick, Judy Smith, Mary McMunn, Sandy Brown, and Judy Thomas.

On October 3, there was a bonfire held by the cheerleaders at the west end of the school. There was a large, enthusiastic turnout.

The following day brought the homecoming celebration to a climax. A warmly accepted pep assembly was held in the gym and was attended by members of the court and their escorts, Spencer Ferry, Ronald Bain, Chris Michaels, Jules Adam, and Larry Bruce.

That evening the pre-game brought the court onto the football field to await the big moment for the "Queen" to be announced. Sandy Brown had won the title of "Queen" and she presented a football to Townville. She was crowned at halftime and given two dozen long-stemmed, red roses.

A dance was held after the game in honor of the "Queen" and her court. It was attended by a large crowd and ended a successful homecoming for 1963.

Seniors*

The 1963-64 basketball season at Saegertown was one that will be remembered for years. The Class B league was probably the most evenly balanced of any in recent years. After the games were completed, Saegertown found themselves in a two-way tie for first place with Linesville, which made a play-off at Meadville H.S. necessary. Fast action and desire on the Saegertown part placed the Panthers in the No. 1 spot for the County. We were eliminated in a fast semi-final District 10 play-off game at the David Mead field house, Alleghaney College, Meadville, Pa., against the Mercer Mustangs.

Our Panthers enjoyed a good season. Few of our games were easily won, as the scores will show. The players, Coaches, and students are to be congratulated for a successful season.

The band, under the new direction of Mr. Charles Cavett began its season marching in scorching parades and concluded in rain, sleet and snow.

They performed at the Crawford County Fair on August 22. They traveled, in August, to Erie to participate in the Perry Sesquicentennial.

On a trip to Polk State Hospital they were welcomed warmly into the hearts of the ill as a thanks for helping make their annual circus a success.

Later, their long hours of practice and hard work paid off when they were invited to the Buffalo Stadium for the half-time show at the game between the New York Jet's and the Buffalo Bills. About two weeks later they were invited back again for another half-time show in the play-off game between the Boston Patriots and Buffalo Bills.

GRIEF

She walked behind the caisson of the dead,
Her face a mask, her veiled eyes dark with pain.
She felt him walking with her once again
And seemed to hear his firm, beloved tread.
At last, to be alone with him, she fled
To sit before the misted windowpane,
To watch the beads of rain that is not rain
But guilty, bitter tears a nation shed.
She is too stricken now to wonder why,
Too dazed to know its meaning, yet aware
The world mourns for a leader gone too soon,
But must tomorrow let its grief pass by,
While she has lighted an eternal flare,
A small, undying flame against the moon.
